Agentic Honeypot

Sting Beta Tester Agreement

Last updated 23 October 2026 · Version 1.0

The Sting beta uses pretend money and is not investment advice. Please do not copy its trades.

This agreement is between you (the "tester") and Agentic Honeypot. You accept it electronically in the beta by ticking the boxes and pressing "I agree and continue". That has the same effect as signing it. We keep a record of your acceptance.

1. What you are agreeing to

By accepting, you confirm that you have read and agree to this agreement, our Terms of Use, our Risk disclosure and our Privacy notice.

2. Who can be a tester

- You are at least 18 years old.
- You are a confirmed member of the Sting waitlist.
- You are not in a country where the beta is unavailable (currently the United Kingdom), and you will not use a VPN or other means to get around this.
- Using the beta is allowed where you live, and you are responsible for following your local laws.

3. What the beta is

- The beta shows Sting, automated software, trading a practice account with pretend money. No real money is invested by Sting for you or anyone else.
- The beta is test software. It may be wrong, incomplete, delayed, interrupted, changed or ended at any time.
- Results shown are practice results after estimated costs. They are not real results and may differ from real trading.

4. Not advice: your acknowledgements

- Nothing in the beta is investment, financial, legal or tax advice, or a recommendation to buy or sell anything.
- The trades are not chosen for you and do not take your situation into account.
- You will not copy the trades. If you make any investment decision, it is entirely your own decision and your own responsibility, including any loss.
- Past or practice results never guarantee future results. You can lose money trading.

5. Keeping beta content private

- Your access is personal. You will not share your sign-in links or let anyone else use your access.
- You will not copy, publish, share, sell or broadcast the beta's trades or trade data (including screenshots of open trades), or use them to run a signals, alert or copy-trading service.
- You may share your general opinion of the beta and link to our website.

6. Feedback

If you send us feedback or ideas, we may use them freely, without paying you or naming you.

7. No guarantees

The beta is provided "as is" and "as available", without any promise of accuracy, availability or results.

8. Responsibility and limits on liability

You accept that you use the beta, and any information in it, at your own risk. To the fullest extent the law allows, Agentic Honeypot is not liable for any loss or damage arising from your use of the beta or from any decision you make using information from it, including trading or investment losses. Nothing in this agreement limits liability that cannot be limited by law, or your rights under consumer laws that apply to you.

9. Ending

You can stop using the beta at any time. We can suspend or end your access at any time, especially if you break this agreement, or if we close the beta.

10. Your data

We record your acceptance of this agreement (your email address, the version, the date and time, and your language) as evidence. How we handle your data is explained in our Privacy notice.

11. Changes

If we change this agreement, we will ask you to accept the new version before you can keep using the beta.

12. Law and language

This agreement is governed by the laws of Mexico, without taking away any rights you have under the consumer laws of the country where you live. Translations are for convenience; if there is any difference, the English version applies.

13. Contact

hello@agentichoneypot.com