Agentic Honeypot

Privacy notice

Last updated 3 November 2026

This notice explains what personal data Agentic Honeypot collects through agentichoneypot.com, the waitlist and the Sting beta, why, and your rights.

Who is responsible agentichoneypot.com and the Sting beta are run by Agentic Honeypot ("we", "us"), based in Mexico. Contact: hello@agentichoneypot.com. We are responsible for your personal data under the data protection laws that apply, including Mexico's federal data protection law.

What we collect

- Waitlist: your email address; the dates you joined and confirmed; that you agreed to receive emails and when; and your preferred language.
- Beta: records of sign-in links and sessions (stored only in scrambled form), when you last used the beta, and your acceptance of the Beta Tester Agreement (email, version, date and time, language, a reference number and a fingerprint of the exact document). When you accept, we email you a Certificate of Acceptance and a copy of the agreement, and keep a copy of that email for our records.
- Connected practice account (only if you connect one): your Alpaca practice (paper) API key and secret, stored encrypted and never shown again; your practice account's balance and holdings as Alpaca reports them; and a record of every practice trade Sting places for you (what, when, how many, the prices Alpaca filled, and the result). We also keep your autopilot settings, your email-alert choices and your acceptance of the connection terms (version, date and time).
- Security: the network (IP) address of requests, used only to stop abuse, such as mass sign-ups. Your country, as reported by our network provider, is used only to apply the beta's country limits and is not stored.
- We do not use advertising trackers, and we do not sell your data.

Why we use it

- To send the emails you asked for: confirmation, welcome, beta invitations and sign-in links, and news about Sting's beta and launch.
- To give you access to the beta and keep it secure.
- To keep evidence that you accepted the Beta Tester Agreement.

- If you connect a practice account: to place and manage Sting's practice trades in it, show you your results, email you about your trades, and check that our records match Alpaca's.
- To improve Sting: we study practice trades across members' accounts, for example how orders fill, how fill prices differ and how timing affects results. We use them together, as statistics, and never publish your individual trades or results or share them with anyone outside our service providers.
- To prevent abuse of the website.

Who we share it with

Only service providers who help us run the service, under their own security and confidentiality terms: Brevo (sending emails), DigitalOcean (hosting our server), Cloudflare (network security and delivery), Alpaca (the broker that holds your practice account, if you connect one: Sting sends your trading instructions to Alpaca using your keys) and Anthropic (the AI service that translates app text and emails into your language; we do not send it your keys). Some of them may process data outside your country. We do not share your data with anyone else unless the law requires it.

How long we keep it

- Unconfirmed waitlist sign-ups: deleted after 30 days.
- Waitlist members: until you unsubscribe, which deletes your address straight away.
- Beta sessions: up to 30 days. Sign-in links expire within 30 minutes (7 days for invitations).
- Agreement acceptance records: while you have beta access and for up to 3 years afterwards, as evidence.
- Practice account keys: deleted as soon as you disconnect, or when your beta access ends.
- Practice trade records: while you have beta access and for up to 3 years afterwards, to improve Sting. You can ask us to delete them sooner, or to remove your email address from them.

Your rights

You can ask to access, correct or delete your data, object to its use, or withdraw your consent at any time (in Mexico these are your ARCO rights; if you are in Europe, you also have rights under the GDPR, and you may complain to your data protection authority). The unsubscribe link in every email deletes your waitlist entry at once. For anything else, write to hello@agentichoneypot.com.

Children

The service is not for anyone under 18. We do not knowingly collect data from children.

Changes

We may update this notice. We will change the date at the top and tell members of important changes.